Cat Behaviorist? What’s That?

If you’re really stuck—cats fighting, cats destroying your house, when nipping turns into biting, don’t assume your cat is out to get you. Get to the bottom of the problem—which many times is due to your cat being ILL. Start off with a trip to the Vet, ANY time your cat acts abnormally. Once you know your cat is in good health, but still acting inappropriately, you can contact a Cat Behaviorist and they can help you, help your cat. Some resources are free and others are fee based. This is a selection of just a few:
